Ecclesiastes 3: 1-8

For everything its season, and for every activity under heaven its time:

- 2 a time to be born and a time to die;
a time to plant and a time to uproot;
- 3 a time to kill and a time to heal;
a time to pull down and a time to build up
- 4 a time to weep and a time to laugh;
a time for mourning and a time for dancing;
- 5 a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them
a time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing;
- 6 a time to seek and a time to lose;
a time to keep and a time to throw away;
- 7 a time to tear and a time to mend;
a time for silence and a time for speech
- 8 a time to love and a time to hate;
a time for war and a time for peace.

....A time to love....

1984 - A century later and another new beginning for the Sims Congregation and the descendents of those early pioneers. Just as the immigrants and pioneers did not know what their future held, so it is today for their descendents. As we near a new century, the dawn of a new age, we, too, face an unknown future. The threat of nuclear war hovers over the nations of the world. The precious soil is blowing away and being depleted of its nutrients by the use of too many chemicals. Chemicals not only contaminate much of today's food and water, but fresh water is in short supply in many parts of the world. Poverty and hunger is another world-wide problem. Technology, unless used wisely, is a threat to the human labor force. And, no one knows if this Sims church structure will be still standing a hundred years from now, or even ten. All of these future unknowns are today's givens. We simply accept that we know not what the future holds. What becomes of our world, though, depends on the decisions that we make today and those that our descendents will make tomorrow. How, though, do these world problems relate to this Sims congregation? We, the descendents to whom this particular prairie heritage is bequeathed, have much for which to be grateful. Most of us have been taught the basic Christian values centered around love. Perhaps we do not always understand what "to love" means. Action is one meaning of love, and as we prepare for the Twenty-First Century it is important that we all love much and many.

To love humanity as a whole, all our brothers and sisters, means to care for the well-being of all - including the poor and hungry and cold. It means to actively seek ways to eliminate the threat of nuclear war and for the things that make for peace. One way to do this is to seek the Prince of Peace with our very soul and spirit in order to turn hate and indifference into love. This prairie heritage we now honor has taught us to love the Christ. By questing for the Christ within - our bodies are the temple wherein He lives - we will learn to love, to be more loving which, in turn, will help us to deal with the world's problems in a more creative way.

This prairie heritage has taught us to love the land, to be stewards of the soil. At a time when this most valuable natural resource is being exploited, what we have learned about caring for the land can have an influence on the policy makers of our government, if - we all speak up and show our concern.

The water in the Sims springs is still sweet but - for how long? At a time when the threat of a shortage of fresh water is a reality, we need to rely more and more on our prairie inheritance and care for it in a more loving way.

If we continue to hold the views and attitudes prevalent today, what will we bequeath our descendents 100 years from now?

Are not war, poverty, hunger, and water exploitations throughout the world only symptoms of the lack of love in the hearts of human beings? Is not the lack of love or not knowing how to love the real problem that needs to be confronted during this next century? We, the inheritors of this prairie heritage have been loved and cared for by someone in our heritage; therefore, we need to learn to love and care for other human beings and the planet so that there will be an inheritance for our own descendents. Perhaps we need a new vision to guide us because we are new pioneers for a new tomorrow.

Dr. Kent Knutson, former president of the American Lutheran Church, had such a vision. Before his death, he shared his dream "That we will live by the gospel and become a new church." Each of us can vision that new church steeped in love.

Dr. Knutson was not talking about a church structure, he was talking about the spiritual church, the invisible church. That is where we are today. It is a time of transformation from the church visible to the church invisible. It means accepting our prairie inheritance, in a way the church visible, and transforming that inheritance of basic attitude and character, into loving action for the good of all humankind. To be transformed as such, we need to seek the Christ within, and, then, allow Him to transform us and to work in and through us. In other words, learning to live the spiritual lessons we have been given through our heritage.

This spiritual quest and transformation is what Christ was talking about when he said to seek him with all of our body, mind, and soul and to love our neighbors as ourselves. We, who are the recipients of this prairie heritage, have heard this message in church, Sunday school, and from our ancestors, so that, now, when we are at the threshold of a new age, we have a foundation on which to stand. We are grounded, secured, and ready for this spiritual journey with the Master.

Whether or not the Sims church building still stands 100 years from now as it does today is not the real concern. If it is still standing - fine. What is more important, however, is that we will have bequeathed to our descendants a spiritual heritage that will enable them to deal effectively with the spiritual and material problems that will confront them during the next century - both locally and globally. The church building will have served its function for its time as a place where this heritage was preserved and passed on. Included in this heritage is the teaching to seek Christ first. Then we will learn how to love, to give, to serve, and to be at peace within, so that we can be at peace in and with the world.

This inner quest, that has gone on for centuries, is symbolized by the Holy Grail. The words to the song entitled "Follow the Gleam", which is found in the SERVICE HYMNAL tell the story:

*"To the Knights in the days of old,
Keeping watch on the mountain height,
Came a vision of Holy Grail
And a voice through the waiting night.*

*Follow, follow, follow the gleam,
Banners unfurled, o'er all the world;
Follow, follow, follow the gleam
Of the Chalice that is the Grail.*

*And we who would serve the King
And loyally Him obey
In the Consecrate silence know
That the challenge still holds today.*

*Follow, follow, follow the gleam,
Standards of worth o'er all the earth;
Follow, follow, follow the gleam
Of the light that shall bring the dawn."*

Yes, the Knights of old waited on the mountain height - the mount within their heart on which they waited in silent meditation. So we, today, at the dawn of the new age can wait in silent meditation for the Light within. The challenge does still hold for those who begin the quest. The challenge is to follow, follow, follow the gleam of the light that shall bring the dawn into the world to be of service and to give love.

Follow, follow, follow the gleam of the light that shall bring the dawn....and it's Christ who will bring the dawn.

It is now

....A TIME TO BE BORN....

....A TIME TO DIE....

....A TIME TO HEAL....

....A TIME TO WEEP....

....A TIME TO EMBRACE....

....A TIME TO SEEK....

....A TIME FOR SILENCE....

....A TIME FOR SPEECH....

....A TIME FOR PEACE....

....A TIME TO LOVE....

....A TIME TO FOLLOW THE GLEAM....OF THE CHRIST WHO WILL BRING THE DAWN.
